Heather Hartlage, M.S.	Staff Archaeologist
Email: hahartlage@crai-ky.com	Specific Duties: • Supervise/Conduct Fieldwork • Bioarchaeologist • Osteological and Dental Analyses • Report Writing and Preparation • Artifact Analysis	Education: 2022 M.S. Forensic Anthropology, University of Dundee, Dundee, Scotland 2021 B.A. Anthropology, Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green

Experience Summary Information
Staff Archaeologist Cultural Resource Analysts, Inc. Knoxville, TN 2022 – present	Archaeological Technician Cultural Resource Analyst, Inc. 2021-2022	Curatorial Assistant Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green 2020-2021

Heather Hartlage serves as a Staff Archaeologist in the Knoxville, Tennessee office. Her main duties are conducting Phase I, II, and III archaeological projects, writing technical reports, completing pre-field research, and assisting in laboratory work. Heather has participated in fieldwork in Ohio, Indiana, and Tennessee. She is a trained forensic anthropologist with experience in bioarchaeology, and precontact and historic archaeology. Her special skills include excavation and analysis of mortuary sites, dental and skeletal variation, and quantitative analysis.

Bioarchaeological Experience
o Private Companies: McGary's Burial Ground in Evansville, Indiana

Supervisory Field Experience
o Crew Chief. Phase II testing of 40JK294 for the Proposed Ridgeline Pipeline in Trousdale, Smith, Jackson, Putnam, Overton, Fentress, Morgan, and Roane Counties, Tennessee

Thesis Topic
o 2022 A Comparative Analysis of Software Programs and Analog Methods in Sex Estimations of the Innominate

Additional Training
o CPR, First Aid, and Bloodborne Pathogens